ERASTUS SNOW TURNED KEY

Apostle of the North" Delivers the Gospel Message to Scandinavia June 14, 1850.

Recounting Interesting incidents in the life of Elder Erastus Snow, who duced Mormonism into Scandinara, since which time 2,500 Utah elders here isbored in that field converting mail souls, most of whom have come Utah, Elder Edward H. Anderson selvered an impressive sermon at the mbernacle Sunday afternoon before a congregation of 5,000 people, it being second session of the jubilee celestion of the sixtieth anniversary of be delivery of the gospel message tq

ELDER ANDERSON'S ADDRESS.

Elder Edward H. Anderson took as his subject the gathering of Scandina-ran Saints in this city in celebration in the sixtieth anniversary of the in-induction of the gospel into Scandina-

Elder Anderson read from Jeremiah and Ezekel, the ancient prophets who predicted gatherings in the last days in the tops of the mountains. "We have witnessed this day the fulfillment of the prophecy in the gathering of Israel in these latter days.

APOSTLE OF THE NORTH.

"On June 14, 1850, 60 years ago Tues-cay next, Erastus Snow, called the spostle of the north, carried the mes-sage of the latter days to the Scandinasign of the latter days to the Scandinavian lands. He was then 32 years of age, having been born Nov. 9, 1818, and baptized into the Church at the age of 14 years. He was made an apostle in 1849. He lived in the old fort at Salt Lake in 1848-9. With his own hands he built his home of adobes and logs, with a bowery in the center for summer comfort: the beds, constructed out of wagon boxes. It was a struggle in those pioneer days to procure even a measure of comfort. He took part in the organizing of the Perpetual Emigration fund, and helped form the provisional State of Deseret. 'In October of 1849, at the conference, Elder Snow was called to go to Scandinavia to open up the dispensation of the fulness of times; John Taylor was called to France; Lorenzo Snow to Italy, Franklin D. Richards to England, being the first party of missionaries sent from this land.

In October the party started. It consisted of 12 wagons, 42 horses, and mules, one carriage and 35 men. They had many wonderful experiences: a deliverance from a marauding hand of Cheyenne Indians, and the miraculous freezing up of the Missouri river, the ice affording safe passage across when warm weather a few hours afterward thawed the ice and passage would have been impossible for weeks, in answer to prayer.

OPENING THE DOOR.

OPENING THE DOOR.

"Elder Erastus Snow reached Denmark June 14,1850. He was assisted by Elders Dykes and Forsgren. The first baptism took place Aug. 12. Soon after Peter Forsgren now a resident of Brigham city, was healed from a sickness thought to have been incurable. Elder Forsgren, his brother, who introduced the gospel into Sweden, having been toe instrument.

"The gospel was introduced into Norway by Elder Hans Frederick Peterson in 1851.

"Intolerance met the elders on every hand, but they labored on unceasingly. About this time Elder Snow wrote the pamphlet 'A Warning Voice to the People,' which has since been distributed by the thousands.

"The people of these countries had become calloused in their religion, as their ministers and teachers did not always give them the true spirit of the gospel. The spirit of God testified to the poole that what the elders said was true, and there were many conversions. The elders told of the message of Joseph Smith; that angels from heaven had again broken the long silence, and had appealed to min. The from heaven had again broken the long silence, and had appeared to man. The message was new, was startling to the sleening world. Some could not comprehend it, others said, 'at last we have found that which we have been exciting.

"Baptism and the laying on or hands for the gift of the Holy Ghost were taught, many believed, and the work has progressed wonderfully from that time to the present."

HEROES OF EARLIER DAYS.

Ebler Anderson told of the many sacrifices made by the converts, and the remarkable work accomplished by some of those good old people. He told the pathetic story of a self-sacrificing old man, a violinist, whose, grave at Fishore, down in central Utah, is today marked by a slab on which is carved the outline of his favorite instrument, which, at his urgent request, was buried beside him. He told of others who, in crossing the bleak plains had left their tracks of blood on the desert wastes of Wyoming. He recounted the story of a poor widow who in early days every time ing. He recounted the story of a poor widow who in early days every time she saw her boy ride away with a sack of wheat to exchange for flour at Manti. 20 miles distant, feared lest she would never see him again on account of the savage Indians infesting the hills and the treacherous surroundings. Many were rich when they joined the Church; they sold everything; and offered all freely to the work and to assist their neighbors and the poor to emigrate to this land of liberty, this new Zion. But all this sacrifice, all these things have returned the Saints a thousand fold, and it can hardly be called a sacrifice.

A RICH HARVEST.

Scandinavia now has the second oldest Church publication in the world, the Millinnial Star, printed in England, being the oldest.

'In baptisms since 1850, Denmark records 25,500; Norway, 7,100; Sweden, 17,400—a total of 50,000. Nearly that number of souls have emigrated to this land. There are now 62 elders laboring in Denmark; 48 in Norway, and 69 in Sweden, a total of 179. In the past 60 years, 2,500 elders from Utah have labored in the Scandinavian mission."

ELDER HEBER J. GRANT.

ELDER HEBER J. GRANT.

Elder Heber J. Grant said he had visited Denmark, Norway and Sweden during the time he was in charge of the European mission. He told of how he was impressed when standing upon the top of the hills there singing "We thank Thee, O God, for a prophet to guide us in these latter days." Elder Grant referred to the great unselfish missionary work of the late Erastus Snow, and the resulting wonderful Survivors of Capt. Lot Smith Utah Cavalry Are Admitted By War Veterans.

MRS. HENRY'S TRIBUNE REPLY

National President of the Ladies of The G. A. R. Made Object of Characteristic Bitter Attack.

A controversy of long standing as to the admission of the survivors of the Captain Lot Smith Utah cavalry, which served the United States in the protection of the mails during the early part of the war of secession, into the state organizations of the G. A. R. was practically settled at the state Grand Army encampment held in this city Saturday, and justice to that or-city Saturday, and Justice to that organization seems about to be done at last. Many of the Lot Smith veterans have belonged to the national organization of the G. A. R., but for reasons of religious animosity recognition of the organization has never been made. The state encampment unanimously seated Charles Crismon, delegate from the Lot Smith Circle, G. A. R., and the ladies of the Lot Smith Circle were declared to be eligible as members of the ladies of the G. A. R., by Mrs. Della R. Henry, president of the ladies' national organization.

The veterans elected officers for the ensuing years and delegates to the national encampment at Atlantic City, and passed a resolution deploring the placing of the statue of Gen. Robert E. Lee in the hall of fame at Washington. The observance of Flag day on June 14, was also urged. Lucian H. Smith, retiring department commander, presided at the sessions of the encampment.

Veazie, Salt Lake, chaplain; J. V. Allen, Ogden, medical director: Walter C. Veazle, Salt Lake, chaplain;

WOMEN'S RELIEF CORPS.

While the G. A. R. encampment was being held, the Women's Relief Corps formed a state department under the direction of Mrs. Jennie L. Jones, junior vice-commander of the national organization. The following officers were chosen:

President, Mrs. Martha Campbell of Salt Lake; senior vice, Mrs. Anna Jenkins, Ogden; junior vice, Mrs. Ellen Brooks, Salt Lake; treasurer; kittle Hines, Provo; chaplain, Mrs. Johanna Melton, Salt Lake; executive council, Henrietta Griffith, Ogden, chairman; Louisa Winegar, Martha Hines, Mrs. C. Coombs of Salt Lake, and Miss Kellogs of Provo; councillor, Mrs. W. H. Jones, Salt Lake; patriotic instructor, Mrs. Harvey, Salt Lake.

With National President Della R. Henry in attendance, the ladies of the G. A. R. instituted a state department for Utah at a session held in Eagle's hall, with the following officers: President, Elinor B. Burns, Salt Lake; senior vice, Mrs. Wells of Ogden; junior vice, Sarah J. Chapman, Ogden; treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Murfett, Salt Lake; chaplain, Mary J. Hoage; council of administration, June Pierce, Ogden; Mrs. J. F. Lyon and Mary Slater of Salt Lake were selected as delegates to the national convention to be held in Atlantic City, Sept. 19.

The installation of officers took place in the evening at Odd Fellows hall.

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon, Commander L. H. Smythe appointed a committee to wait upon and escert Mrs. Della R. Henry, president of the national organization of the Ladies of the G. A. R. to the state encampment, where she made an impressive and patriotic address. She was presented with large bouquets of flowers by the different circles in token of esteem.

RULING ON ELIGIBILITY.

RULING ON ELIGIBILITY.

The incident leading up to the recognition of the Lot Smith delegates in the state encampment followed a discussion of a ruling by X. J. L. Davenport, commissioner of the bureau of pensions, to the effect that "at one time it was held that this company was not organized for service in connection with the war of the rebellion. Recently the secretary has reversed his former holding and now holds that the company was enlisted for service in that war, and that this last decision gives pensionable status to the members of the organization under the act of February 6, 1907. This would seem to place them in the same position as soldiers who actually served at the front during the war."

In the year 1862 President Abraham Lincoln sent to Brigham Young, then governor of the territory of Utah, asking for aid, and the result was the organization of the Lot Smith company of cavalry, which performed active service in protecting the United States mails and stage service in Utah and Wyoming from April 1, 1862 to August 15 of the same year. While the men of the command were not regularly mustered out at the time, they received honorable discharges some years later.

TRIBUNE'S ANIMOSITY.

Mrs. Henry, national president of the Ladies of the G. A. R., was made the object of a bitter attack by The Tribune for declaring the women of the Lot Smith circle eligible to admission to the state department. However, Mrs. Henry stood by her guns and is quoted as saying that she is surprised that a newspaper in a city like Salt Lake would deliberately resort to false and misleading statements to cause friction in an organization like the Ladies of the G. A. R.

"Naturally enough I am obliged to resent the statements made in an article in the Salt Lake Tribune of Sunday, June 12, in which my motives in ruling that the ladies of the Lot Smith circle were eligible to membership in the department organization which was perfected Saturday, are impugned," said Mrs. Henry. "I know nothing of local conditions, religious, political or otherwise, which may have prompted the attack upon me and the Ladies of the G. A. R. but I do know that it was unjust and unwarranted.

"Anyone who will take the pains to inquire must know that religion and politics are eliminated in the affairs of the Grand Army of the Republic, as well as in the Ladies of the G. A. R. All that is required for admission to membership in any circle of the Ladies of the G. A. R. all that is required for admission to membership in any circle of the Ladies of the G. A. R. is for the applicant to be a woman of good moral character and to show that she is a blood relative of a loyal and honorably discharged veteran of the Civil war.

principles do not discriminate against religious sects, and any good woman who comes within the requirements, whether she be Jew. Mormon or Gentile, is acceptable, and, in fact, solicited."

FACTS IN CASE.

In regard to the charge that "pressure was brought to bear" from the headquarters of the national president of the Ladies of the G. A. R. on S. R. VanSant, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., to change his decision and declare that the Lot Smith circle was eligible and to admit them, the facts are well known to be to the contrary. The facts are that General Van Sant rendered his decision declaring that the Lot Smith company was not eligible to Grand Army circles upon representations made by Thomas Harris, who Saturday retired as adjutant of the department of Utah. Harris acted in the absence of L. H. Smyth, the department commander May 18 Department Commander Smyth wrote General Van Sant, declaring that Harris' action in writing and asking for a decision was made during the absence of the department commander; that the department commander had not been consulted in the matter; that the action of Harris was unauthorized and repudiated. Commander Smyth embodled a statement of facts in his letter which led to General Van Sant reversing his decision made at the instance of Harris, and Saturday last notified Commander Smyth by telegraph to accept the Lot Smith com-In regard to the charge that "pres-
